PRICE THREE CENTS

CHARLES NAGEL, REPUBLICAN, FOR BYRNES FOR MAYOR

Former Secretary of Commerce and Labor Says He Opposed Third Term for Grant and Roosevelt.

"SHALL MAKE NO EXCEPTION NOW"

Doesn't Agree With Statement of Spencer as to One Party in Control of National, State and City Affairs.

Charles Nagel of 44 Westmoreland place, who was Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Taft's Cabinet, who was President of the City Council under Mayor Walbridge's administration, and who was a leader in the recent Burkham-for-Mayor campaign before the Republican primary, today said, in reply to an inquiry by a Post-Dispatch reporter, that he intended to vote for James V. Byrnes, Democratic nominee for Mayor, running on a nonpartisan platform of business administration.

Nagel said: "I shall vote the Republican ticket with the exception of Mayor. I am opposed to a third term for any executive officer who has it in his power by means of large patronage to build up a political machine. I was opposed to a third term for Grant and for Roosevelt, and shall make no exception now.

Machine Opportunity Strong. "The effort to limit this rule to the office of President has no merit. The opportunity and the temptation to organize a bomb-proof political machine are peculiarly strong in large cities.

"All we need do is to reflect upon the immediate situation. Within a year we were held up to the scorn of the country. Our delegation in the national convention was humiliated. The public insisted upon changes. The national committee was shelved; the State Committee was reorganized. The candidate for Governor joined in the fight; and in the face of all the warnings, the party achieved an unprecedented victory.

"Today we see our Mayor running for a third term with all the discredited forces behind him—for harmony. Any other candidate would have meant a break in the combination. Therefore they had to have him; and he likes the job."

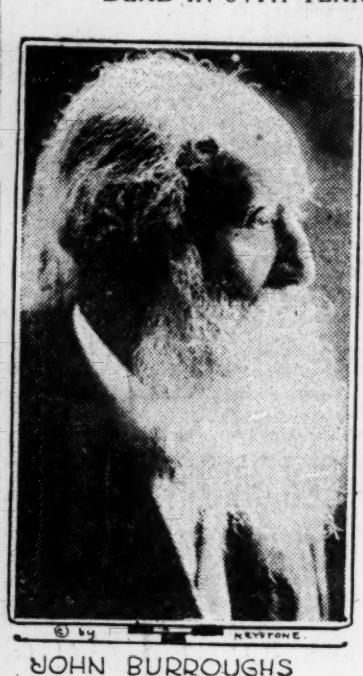

"I cannot agree with the statement made by Senator Spencer last night that it is for the good of the country to have one party in control of national, state and city affairs. To my mind, it would be a calamity to have one political party control national, state and municipal government. Such a condition would constitute a menace to freedom and action. We certainly have an abundance of docility in this country. What we need is some of the vitality that makes for independent conduct.

"Neither have I any fear that the failure to elect Kiel would be regarded as a reflection upon the national administration. It would be well to preserve a proper sense of proportion. That is that the national administration, for its success, depends upon its ability to meet issues and problems which have not so much as been referred to in our city campaign.

"Inasmuch as I am opposed to the third term for any executive officer controlling large patronage, I need not discuss the position of Mr. Byrnes as an independent candidate. At the same time I am rather surprised to find that Senator Spencer credits Mr. Byrnes' vote for President Harding with only one per cent of Republicanism. That is a lower estimate than I should place upon the importance of Mr. Harding's election."

Other Republicans for Byrnes. Other Republicans who have announced themselves for Byrnes are William K. Kirby, capitalist and large contributor to the Republican campaign fund in past years; Col. Albert T. Perkins, chairman of the Leonard Wood League of Missouri during Gen. Wood's campaign for the Republican nomination for President; Chauncey L. Filley, former Mayor; Emil N. Tolson, former Director of Public Welfare; George Marion Brown, president of the Certain-teed Products Corporation; Benjamin Gratz, capitalist; William E. Guy, Daniel K. Catlin and Paul Bakewell Jr., the last named having been a leader in the Burkham campaign, and now chairman of the Byrnes-for-Mayor Finance Committee.

FAMOUS NATURALIST DEAD IN 84TH YEAR

JOHN BURROUGHS

MACARONI FACTORY FIRE DOES MORE THAN $10,000 DAMAGE

Smoke Wards 15 Employees in Building and a Neighboring One. A fire of undetermined origin, discovered at 10:45 a. m. today in the basement of the three-story brick building occupied as a macaroni factory by the Claudio-Gio Manufacturing Co., at 818 North Eighth street, damaged the building and contents more than $10,000.

Fifteen employees were in the building, but the smoke from the basement gave them warning and all escaped in safety. The flames spread rapidly to the upper floors, and a dense smoke made it difficult for firemen to enter the building.

Harry W. Wibracht, president of the company, said that macaroni and four valued at more than $15,000 were in the building. Street cars on Eighth street were rerouted for more than two hours. Two alarm bells were turned in, and several hundred persons gathered in the street in front of the building.

COPPER MINING SUSPENDED BY ANACONDA COMPANY

Four Other Concerns Earlier in the Day Had Made Known Their Intentions of Shutting Down.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Suspension of mining operations by the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., one of the largest producers of copper ore in the United States, was announced here today by John D. Ryan, chairman of the company's Board of Directors, after four other concerns earlier in the day had made known their intentions of shutting down.

Lack of domestic and export demand was given as the reason for stoppage of activities by Anaconda and the other concerns which were the Utah Copper, Ray Consolidated, Chino Copper and Nevada Copper companies.

Officials and others interested in the five companies expressed the opinion that the shutdowns would be only temporary.

THREE FAMILIES EXCHANGE HOMES WITHIN AN HOUR

Three families moved out of three houses in Lebanon the other day and three families moved into the vacated houses. The families that moved out were the same families that moved in. It was a triangular exchange.

George Sayer bought the house in which Prof. August Halling had been occupying. Frank Miller heard that Sayer was going to move, and rented the house Sayer had been occupying. Halling rented the house Miller had been occupying.

The three families, utilizing three sets of wagons, moved simultaneously, and the three-cornered exchange was accomplished within an hour.

A. T. & T. TO PAY 9 PER CENT

Directors Increase Dividend Rate to Attract Capital.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced today that, commencing July 15 next, the regular annual dividend of 15 per cent would be increased from 8 per cent to 9 per cent.

"The change is nothing more than an adjustment to a new set of conditions," said President Thayer of the company. The directors, the announcement said, believed a higher rate of return necessary to attract capital for making extensions of the telephone service. "To keep pace with the growth of the country," there has been no time, the announcement said, within the last 10 years when the company's earnings have not been sufficient to pay a higher rate of dividend.

JOHN BURROUGHS, NOTED NATURALIST, DIES ON TRAIN

Succumbs Suddenly at Kingsville, O., on Way From California, After Asking 'How Near Home Are We?'

WAS IN 84TH YEAR; NOTED FOR WRITINGS

Was Reminiscent of Famous New England Essayists—His Place on Hudson Retreat for Noted Men.

By the Associated Press. UTICA, N. Y., March 29.—John Burroughs, famous naturalist, died on a New York Central train near Kingsville, O., on his way home from Pasadena, Cal., at 2 o'clock this morning. He had been ill for six weeks with an abscess on the chest and heart and with kidney complications. He was in his eighty-fourth year.

He was so eager to get home that the long journey was undertaken with the hope that he could survive. The end came suddenly, a few minutes after he had asked: "How near home are we?"

His physician, Dr. Clara Barrus, his granddaughter, Ursula Burroughs, and the Misses Eleanor and Harriet Burroughs accompanied him on the journey.

While it was known that the naturalist had been ill, it was reported that he had recovered before he started East for his home in West Park, Ulster County, New York. The body arrived at his home this afternoon.

Burroughs Reminiscent of Famous New England School of Essayists. John Burroughs was the venerable dean of nature writers in this country. Through a score of books he shared with countless readers his life-long intimacy with birds, bees, flowers and the whole out-of-doors. His highly developed powers of observation and the charm of his interpretations were the marvel of his critics.

His flowing white beard, his kindly mien, his whole habit of life, and his literary style were rather reminiscent of that famous New England school of essayists a generation or two before him. His earliest writing, on "Expression," was at one time widely mistaken for the work of Emerson, a close reader of whom Burroughs had been from youth. His later works on nature suggested something of Thoreau, but, as critics said, Burroughs was the more sociable writer.

He learned to love nature when he drove cows at his birthplace farm, Roxbury, among the Catskills, in New York State, but anything like a literary composition was a bugbear to him as a youth. The story is told of how, when he was 14, in company with the members of his class at school, he was required to write 15 lines of original composition. He copied something out of a comic almanac. His theft was detected. Again, in desperation, upon his second trial, he paid Jay Gould, his classmate, 40 cents for a 12-line verse which he handed in as his own.

Guarded Money in Treasury. He was born in 1837. In 1862 he went to Washington with something of an inclination to enlist in the Union army, but he decided to seek a Government office. It is related that with only a few of his papers as credentials he walked into the Treasury Department and asked for a job. It was agreed that his verbal verities really smelt of the woods, and he was made a watchman of the Treasury vaults. He agreed to take the place. At a little desk facing the huge iron vault where he kept tabs on the money who went to handle the $50,000,000 stored there, he began writing of the secrets of nature. He never forgot the greenbacks. There he renewed his emotional intercourse with nature, building a real house overlooking the river—just above Poughkeepsie. When rural civilization pressed a little close about him, he built his "Slabside" cabin a mile or two back in the woods.

He did not go at his studies with the set determination of an herbalist, but took life easily, and, when the spirit moved him, wrote breezily of the secrets of nature. He never made much of the discovery of new species, and nothing of the cataloging of them, but delighted in finding for himself and revealing to others the charms of close contact with birds, bees and flowers. The essence of his philosophy was always bright.

WRECKERS CALLED TO HOIST HORSE OFF MERCHANTS' BRIDGE

Eleven Trains Wait 35 Minutes; Animal Explored Path Too Far to Turn Around.

Five passenger trains and six freight trains waited at either end of the Merchants' Bridge for 35 minutes about 6 o'clock last night while a Terminal Association wrecking crew was removing a horse which had strayed onto the bridge. The horse was that of Wilbert Matthews, 819 Franklin street, Madison, Ill., a negro, and is accustomed to survey the water from the shafts of a coal wagon. Chance liberty from the tie rope last night afforded opportunity to widen his horizon. He stepped up the approach to the bridge and followed a board footpath which proceeds alongside the rails over the ties of the trestlework. However, the footpath ends at a point over the levee at water's edge. When the horse reached the end of the footpath he stopped. He couldn't turn because the footpath was too narrow. The shafts of water through the ties beyond told him he couldn't go on. There was nothing for a coal horse to do but resign itself to its fate.

So he waited. So did the passenger trains and the freight trains. A bridge attendant tied him to the bridge rail against the evening wind. The horse was banded with a coil of rope. The shafts of water through the ties beyond told him he couldn't go on. There was nothing for a coal horse to do but resign itself to its fate.

The police valued the horse at $25. The wrecking crew foreman valued the crew's time at $75. The train passengers were ungrateful whether they were seated at a drug store or in a rooming house.

DECIDED IMPROVEMENT IN THE MOTOR CAR BUSINESS

Principal Demand, Detroit Manufacturers Say, Comes From East and the Far West.

DETROIT, Mich., March 29.—A decided improvement in the motor car business, with a resulting increase in production, is indicated by manufacturers. Demand for pleasure cars, trucks and tractors, it was said, has been growing steadily for several weeks.

The principal demand, according to the manufacturers, comes from the East and the Far West. The Pacific Coast in the lead. Export trade was also said to be improving. Various reasons were assigned for the apathy in the middle West, among them the fact that it is principally agricultural, and therefore has been affected to a greater extent by depression in foodstuffs markets.

The Packard, Hudson and Essex plants are running at about 50 per cent, and the Cadillac, Lincoln, Maxwell-Chalmers and Scripps-Booth factories have announced a quantity production had again been reached.

SIX PERSONS DEAD IN UNEXPLAINED CHICAGO EXPLOSION

Warehouse Wrecked, Nearby Buildings Damaged, in Blast That Also Injures Many.

GAS MAINS SAID TO HAVE BEEN FAULTY

Police Also Consider Bomb Possibility—Windows Severely Broken Away Shattered by Blast.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 29.—At least six and perhaps twice that number of persons were killed and scores of persons hurt when an unexplained explosion blew to pieces a warehouse at 791 Barber street, about two miles southwest of the downtown district, today.

Police theories of the cause ranged from bombing, faulty gas mains, starch and flour dust and fireworks. The building, a one-story brick structure, was filled with grocery stores, but the police also learned that a quantity of fireworks had been stored in the basement.

The concussion was so great that timbers and bricks were thrown hundreds of feet, and windows in a department store several blocks away were shattered. In the immediate vicinity of the warehouse scarcely a pane of glass was left intact, porches were torn from houses and apartment buildings, and cornices were ripped loose.

Two Reports in Quick Succession. A number of persons passing the place were struck by flying debris. The first six bodies recovered from the ruins were those apparently of persons who were in the warehouse when it blew up. The bodies of one of these, Mike Tapsinski, was found, and he was the only identified victim three hours after the accident.

Seven seriously injured were taken to the county hospital. A branch of the public library was turned into a dressing station, and 30 persons were given first aid there. Eight others were treated at a drug store.

GAS MAINS WERE FAULTY

"One of our officers found what appeared to be parts of a detonating device, and another picked up some wadding that smelled strongly of gunpowder, but those may have been parts of the fireworks which I have been told were stored in the basement," said Chief of Police Fitzmorris.

"I have been told also that the gas mains in the neighborhood were in bad shape, and that an inspector noted in dispatches and taken to the warehouse piping about half an hour before the explosion took place."

A department store at Twelfth and Halsted streets was the scene of a panic when the concussion shattered plate-glass windows and startled clerks and shoppers. The neighborhood foreign hangers-on, the police and firemen until fire lines were established. Men and women ran about the streets screaming "bombs."

Samuel Helman, proprietor of a paint shop near the warehouse, said that a moment before the blast a man ran up the stairs of his shop and asked how he could reach the plant of the Joseph Weil paper house, which is near the scene.

"All I could see was a flash of flame and then I heard a roar," Helman said. "I was knocked off my feet, and when I got up my head and face were bleeding."

Edward Shaffer, son of N. Shaffer, who conducts a novelty shop back of the warehouse also was questioned by the police. He was released. Shaffer denied knowledge of the ownership of the fireworks stored in the warehouse. A committee of Aldermen visited the scene and found a number of boxes of fireworks in the Shaffer establishment. The storage facilities there and the fact that fireworks were on the premises at all were declared to be violations of city ordinances.

Hundreds of children attending the James Garfield public school, nearby, had just left the building for recess when the explosion shattered the glass roof, covering the decks on the top floor, with debris.

RAIL LABOR BOARD DECLINES TO HEAR SHIPPER'S LEAGUE

Decision Argues Admission of More Contestants in Rules Case Might Prolong Hearing for a Year.

"WOULD NOT BE IN PUBLIC INTEREST"

Board Finds Cotton Belt Probably Has Violated Certain Sections of Last July's Wage Award.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 29.—The United States Railroad Labor Board today declined to admit the National Industrial Traffic League to the rules case now before the board.

Baring of the petitioner would not be helpful, and would not be in the public interest, said the board. The decision also argued that to admit this organization as a party contestant would result in opening the gates to dozens of similar bodies, and perhaps prolong the hearing for a year.

The Traffic League made quick reply to the board, indicating its intention to wage a strong fight for public representation in the hearing. Luther M. Walter, counsel for the league, immediately filed protest with the board, declaring the board could not obtain all information necessary to determine fully the rules dispute if the "representatives of the paying public in traffic matters" were excluded. Walter also asked to be heard orally in argument for the league petition.

The board's decision to exclude the league stated that under the transportation act, the league was not legally entitled to be a party to the rules hearing, as it had not participated in the first hearing, which resulted in the wage award of July, 1920. In the board's judgment, the ruling said, the league could not contribute anything helpful to determination of the case.

The league recently took up the cudgel of the shippers, claiming to represent 65 per cent of the country's shipping interests and asking for abrogation of the national agreements as preliminary to lower freight rates. The league asked that each carrier be allowed to negotiate its own agreements.

That the St. Louis & Southwestern Railway probably has violated certain sections of last July's wage award was the finding today of the United States Railroad Labor Board on a complaint brought by the United States Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers.

The board set March 31 as the date for a hearing, and requested the union and the railroad to have representatives present at that time. One of the allegations in the complaint was that the road had established a 10-hour day for unskilled labor and was paying a pro rata scale for overtime instead of time-and-a-half scale.

Argument of Labor. The root of the railroad difficulty is not in national agreements, but in the inadequacies of management, W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist of the railroad labor organizations, declared, in beginning presentation of railroad labor exhibits before the board today.

"Conservatively stated, if railroad management was characterized by reasonable efficiency and had available for its use a proper amount of capital or credit, labor costs would have shown a radical decline under national agreements," Lauck declared, "and savings in operating expenses of at least $1,000,000,000 annually would be made, or almost $2,000,000 a day. We shall demonstrate this fact concretely by reports and analyses which we have had prepared by reputable railroad engineers and experts."

"By the series of exhibits which I am about to present, we shall establish the following facts: "1. The policy of establishing national agreements or uniform rates of pay and working conditions is in conformity with custom and precedent in the transportation industry and in accordance with the best public policy, as shown by the awards of boards of arbitration, and the acts and recommendations of other official agencies during the pre-war period."

"2. In other leading industries of this country collective bargaining on a national scale and national agreements have been found to be the best means of stabilizing conditions, promoting industrial peace and accelerating production."

"3. That in Great Britain these facts have become so clearly recognized by both employers and employees that national agreements are encouraged by the federated industries."

CABINET DISCUSSES RAILWAY SITUATION

President Calls for Opinions Preparatory to Framing Administration Policy.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 29.—The railway situation held first place in Cabinet discussion today, President Harding calling for opinions from his circle of counselors preparatory to the framing of a general administration policy.

It was indicated that the question of railway legislation probably would be touched on in the President's message to the special session of Congress next month.

The administration has been in touch with railway executives and railway labor leaders, and the President is understood to be much impressed by the present situation in which the carriers are operating at a loss at the same time that shippers are complaining that rates are too high. The wage reduction element in the situation is understood to have been touched on at the Cabinet session and freight rates were said to have been particularly under consideration.

The President and his advisers took into account its possible relation to tariff legislation, and conditions arising from the fact that under the present tariff schedule railroad rates make delivery of American agricultural products in some of the home commercial centers more expensive than costs of their importation from abroad.

MAN DROPS FLATIRON FROM WINDOW UPON HEAD OF BURGLAR

Intruder, Trying to "Jumpy" First Floor Window, Leaves Red Trail. Archie Southern of 3127 Pine street dropped a flatiron from the head of a burglar who was trying to "jumpy" a first-floor window of the Southern home at 12:15 o'clock this morning. The burglar left a red trail as he ran away.

Southern later informed the police that he was awakened by a noise at the window and seeing the burglar at work, got two flatirons from the kitchen and went upstairs to the bathroom, which was directly above the window which the burglar was trying to force open. He raised the bathroom window silently and dropped the iron. One of them landed on the burglar's head.

Patrolman Grace saw a man run into an alley on Grand avenue, north of Pine street, and fired two shots at the man. The man continued running and got away. Later blood spots were found in the alley.

SAYS HEART IS BROKEN MORE OFTEN FROM JOY THAN GRIEF

Physician Declares Actual Rupture of Fibrous Heart a Physiological Possibility.

LONDON, March 29.—Actual broken heart is a physiological possibility, according to Dr. J. Strickland Goodall, an eminent heart specialist, in a lecture here. He said rupture of the heart fibers might result from emotion more often from joy than grief.

"The ordinary, every-day emotions of life produce more wear and tear on the heart than work," he added. "The heart is protected from overstrain in a variety of ways. Fainting, with the subsequent rest of the heart, is one of these."

BANK-ROBBERS GET $20,000

Five Men Strike Down Cashier and Woman Teller at St. Paul.

By the Associated Press. ST. PAUL, Minn., March 29.—Five men walked into the City Bank of St. Paul shortly after 1 p. m. today, "knocked down the cashier and a woman teller with the butts of their revolvers, and escaped with cash and bonds valued at $20,000.

Negro on Trial for Life Sentence. LAKE CHARLES, La., March 29.—While being tried in District Court last night for his life, Joe Berry, negro alleged ax-man, fell soundly asleep and was awakened by order of the Judge. A half hour later the jury, after seven minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty, which carries the death penalty. Berry was charged with ax-slitting an aged one-legged negro and also chopping an old woman and boy with the ax.

Reports of Squad Under Lieut. McMullen Involve Precincts in Fifth Ward and One Precinct in the Sixth Ward.

Further frauds in registration for the city election April 5 were shown today in reports made to Police Lieut. McMullen by a squad of eight policemen who have been making a canvass of downtown precincts. These showed that many persons, men and women, are registered from downtown hotels and rooming houses, but are not known at those places.

NO LIVING ROOMS AT SOME ADDRESSES

Lieut. McMullen visited the Circuit Attorney's office to ask for a grand jury investigation of registration frauds he made. Siderer was absent when this call was made, but later he communicated with the Lieut. and instructed him to continue to make a searching investigation as to frauds by members of both political parties and submit the evidence to him.

The February grand jury will dissolve next Friday or Saturday. Siderer said it was possible the registration investigation would be carried over to the next grand jury, which convenes next Monday, just before the city election.

The investigation covered by today's report to Lieut. McMullen covered several precincts of the Fifth Ward and one precinct of the Sixth. These precincts are cited as evidences of fraud:

Fifth Ward, Fourth Precinct—Thirteen names registered from 117 North Sixth street. Three-story building with basement, first and second floors occupied by the National Cafe. Bellicemen found the stairway to the third floor had been cut away from an adjoining room. They looked through a window and saw that the third floor was vacant and unfurnished. No one known to live in the building.

42 of 56 Registrations Irregular. Fifth Ward, Fourth Precinct—La Salle Hotel, Broadway and Chestnut street, 56 men registered, checking of hotel register showed only 14 of these registered there. The 42 others not known or have moved and are not entitled to vote from that address.

Fifth Ward, Fourth Precinct—Three-story building, five of these Sixth street. Eight men registered. A child can come restaurant on first and second floor. Third floor vacant, and one entitled to register from there.

In the same precinct, the Garrick Hotel, 523 Chestnut street, 17 registered. The manager, Emory Chase, former member of the State Legislature, said three of these were not entitled to register. He explained that eight persons were registered to vote from his Sixth Street entrance, which was 104 North Sixth street, the child can come restaurant, which had already been investigated. Policemen reported there was no entrance to the Garrick Hotel at that number.

Transients on List.

Fifth Ward, Fifth Precinct—Rooming house at 1113A Pine street, Thirteen men and women registered. The report says only five of these actually live there and one of the women registered is not known there, while others have lived there transiently, but are not entitled to claim residence there.

Fifth Ward, Fifth Precinct—St. Francis Hotel, Sixth and Chestnut streets. Election books show 146 men and women registered. Home books show 30 of these are residents there. The 10 others are not known.

In the same precinct 37 men and women are registered from the Laclede Annex Hotel, where 22 are unknown, and 23 are registered from the Laclede Hotel, but the names of 18 of them are not on the hotel books.

PHYSICIAN IS SHOT WHEN RESISTING ROBBERS IN OFFICE

Dr. Jacob J. Jacobson Fights
With One of Two Robbers
When They Demand Ring
Valued at $2500.

ONE OF ROBBERS ALSO WOUNDED

Youth at Hospital With Wound in Neck—Holdup Attempt at 1833 Cass Avenue, at 7:30 P. M.

Dr. Jacob J. Jacobson, 51 years old, of 5598 Barmine avenue, at the city hospital today told how he was wounded three times about 7:30 o'clock last night in his office at 1833 Cass avenue in an encounter with two robbers who invaded his office and demanded that he give them a diamond ring which he valued at $2500. Dr. Jacobson's condition is serious.

The robber who did the shooting escaped. One of the shots which he fired at the doctor went wild and hit the robber's companion, Roy Burton, 19 years old, of 1815 Biddle street, who is also at the city hospital with a bullet wound in the right side of his neck.

Dr. Jacobson was shot in the center of the chest, in the right side of the chest and in the forehead. The bullet which struck his forehead glanced off and caused only a superficial wound.

Ring Demanded by Robbers.
The doctor today said his office quarters consist of two rooms on the first floor, a reception room in front and the office proper in rear, the rooms being separated by folding doors. He was seated in the rear office, reading a newspaper, when he heard someone enter the reception room. Opening the folding door he was confronted by two men. One had a revolver and the other, later identified as Burton, had a "billy."

The man with the revolver pointed to the doctor's left hand and said: "Hand over that ring."

Dr. Jacobson tried to grab the revolver and the robber fired, wounding the doctor in the chest. Burton hit the doctor with the "billy," knocking him to his knees, but the doctor got up and continued his effort to get the revolver from the robber, who fired three more shots, two of which struck Dr. Jacobson, while one struck Burton, who fell to the floor.

Robber Escapes.
The doctor and the robber fought into a hallway leading to the front door, through which the man with the revolver escaped. Dr. Jacobson then walked to a drug store at 1817 Cass avenue, where he called his office, and from there the police were notified by telephone.

Burton was found unconscious in the doctor's waiting room, but he regained consciousness before reaching the hospital, where he made a statement. He at first said he lived at 1817 North Eighteenth street, but later he gave his right address, 1815 Biddle street, saying he rented a room there from William McMurry and that his roommate was McMurry's brother-in-law, James McGuigan.

McMurry and McGuigan are held by the police for further investigation. They deny knowledge of the robbery. Burton said he and McGuigan left the McMurry home together at 6 o'clock last night, but separated a short time later.

Says Stranger Proposed Holdup.
Burton told of having met a stranger, who approached him at Sixteenth and Market streets and said: "I'm broke, and I've got a cannon. If you'll go with me, I'll get some easy money." Being out of work and desperate, Burton said he agreed to accompany the man, and they walked direct to Dr. Jacobson's office. On the way, he said, the stranger handed him a "billy."

The account of the robbery as given by Burton agreed with that of Dr. Jacobson, except that he said he thought only three shots were fired. He admitted that he struck the doctor on the head with the "billy."

The robber who escaped dropped his hat in the hallway and it is held by the police as a possible clue. It is a black fedora, size 6 1/2, with the label of J. Brunner, a hat dealer, at 1123 Franklin avenue.

At the time the robbers entered, Dr. Jacobson had $13 in his pocket and was wearing a diamond ring, a Masonic ring and a diamond stickpin. He also wore the badge of a licensed private watchman. He was made a private watchman by the last Police Board, which conferred police powers on a number of persons as an aid to the police in checking crime.

JANE ADDAMS IN ST. LOUIS
Miss Jane Addams, head of Hull House, Chicago, arrived in St. Louis this morning, and at 8 o'clock tonight will deliver an address at the Delmar Baptist Church, Washington avenue and Skinner road, under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of the church. Her subject will be "Dead Europe and Live America."

Miss Addams conferred at noon with the Executive Board and the ward chairman of the League of Women Voters at the headquarters of the league in the Century Building. She is the guest, while here, of Mrs. Frederick J. Tansie, of 4184 Maryland avenue. After her address tonight he will depart for Chicago.

450 PETITIONS FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING SIGNED BY WORKERS

Lists From Industrial and Mercantile Establishments—Signers Estimated at 150,000.

More than 450 industrial plants, retail and wholesale establishments, yesterday turned in petitions signed by their employees for the passage of the daylight saving ordinance. The total number of industrial and commercial establishments that have sent in petitions is now 617, many of which are among the largest employers of labor in the city. The number of signatures is estimated at 150,000.

The bureau opened by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce at 797 Locust street will be kept open until final action is taken on the bill. Chairman O. F. Richards requests that all who favor daylight saving, who have not already signed, go to the bureau and sign.

A public hearing on the ordinance is to be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the city hall. Representatives of the 41 commercial, civic and labor organizations which have endorsed the bill and representatives of large industrial plants and business establishments will urge the Aldermen to pass the measure.

The milk wagon drivers, who get up earlier than anybody else, have endorsed the plan.

Chicago, Cleveland, New York and other leading cities have daylight saving. Cleveland has adopted Eastern time in addition to daylight saving, which puts it two hours ahead of St. Louis. It is pointed out that from a business standpoint it is important that St. Louis operate on the same time as prevails in other large centers.

Chicago adopted the daylight saving plan yesterday and as a result the local Merchants' Exchange is forced to open an hour earlier to coincide with Chicago's time.

Chairman Richards has taken daylight saving up with the railroad and says that generally they favor it. They would continue to operate on Central time, but would advance the time of arrival and departure one hour. Suburban trains and electric cars would be accommodated to the changed St. Louis time to enable commuters to get to work an hour earlier.

WOMAN'S PURSE OPENED IN CROWD, $3.80 IS REMOVED Policeman Intercepts Fleeing Man
Believed to Have Taken

Excitement in a 5-and-10 cent store at Broadway and Washington avenue followed the discovery by Mrs. Mary E. Bridges, a customer, yesterday afternoon, that her handbag had been opened, and a purse containing $3.80 removed. She saw a man opening the purse, and screamed.

The man ran for the door, pushing his way through the customers, but the general outcry attracted a policeman, who intercepted the man at the door. He was identified as Fred Brewington, 29 years old, of 2422 Olive street, who recently was released from the Missouri penitentiary after serving a term for robbery. Mrs. Bridges lives at 2840 Page boulevard.

CREEKS OVERFLOW FOLLOWING THREE DAYS OF HEAVY RAIN

Five Persons Caught in Car in High Waters, Rescued After Three Hours.

Dynamite was used yesterday in an attempt to avert the overflow of wheat fields by the flood waters of Cahokia creek, north of Edwardsville. West and south the excess water from the storm of Sunday, Saturday and Friday was carried off by the new channel in good shape, but north of the city a stretch of two miles had been cut into the new channel. Efforts to break a way with explosives into the outlet failed and many hundreds of acres of growing wheat were ruined.

A man, two women and two children from St. Louis, whose names could not be ascertained, tried to cross the flood waters of Indian Creek Sunday night in an automobile sedan, which was swept from the road. It lodged in such a way that the occupants could not leave it. They were rescued with considerable difficulty at midnight after having been partly immersed in the icy water for three hours.

Russian Policy Rejected by Labor.

By the Associated Press.
SOUTHPORT, England, March 29.—The Independent Labor party in conference here yesterday, rejected by an overwhelming majority a proposal to accept Lenin's 21 conditions for affiliation with the Third International of Moscow. The minority report favored acceptance and this element may secede from the party.

POLICEMEN UNDER NEGLECT CHARGE PREVENT ROBBERY

Pair Cited to Appear Today Frustrate Opening of Safe
at 1811 Chouteau Av. and Arrest Two Suspects.

RECORD OF ARRESTS SHOWS BIG DECLINE

Charges Against Patrolmen Stapleton and Leary Based on Records in Successive Periods.

Patrolmen Stapleton and Leary of Central District Station, who have been cited by their captain to appear before the Police Board to answer charges of neglect of duty in making too few arrests, last night frustrated a safe robbery and arrested two men suspected of the crime, thereby providing a defense for their hearing this afternoon.

When their cases were called for hearing before the Police Board this afternoon, Chief O'Brien went into executive session with the commissioners, and it was announced at the end of the conference that the cases had been continued for 24 days.

In the six months period prior to Dec. 24, Stapleton and Leary had made more than 100 arrests of gangsters and police characters. They have arrested only three persons this year, and the neglect of duty charge is based on their work since Dec. 24, as compared with that of three preceding months.

At 10 o'clock last night Stapleton and Leary separated in making their rounds. Leary going towards Eighth street on Chouteau avenue and Stapleton through an alley. In the doorway of the Schleicher Paper Box Co., 1811 Chouteau avenue, Leary accused a man he knew to be an associate of members of the "Cuckoo" gang, standing in the doorway. "I'm waiting for my girl," the man said, but at that moment Leary saw the glimmer of a match in the office and turned his flashlight into the place. He saw a man with a hammer at the safe. He seized the man in the doorway and with raps of his nightstick brought Stapleton, who held the man, while Leary went around to the rear of the building.

He was in time to fire three shots at a fleeing man, and the shots attracted another policeman from an adjoining beat. They searched the vicinity and Leary found a man hiding at the foot of the Schleicher company fire escape in an adjoining yard.

CITY COLLECTOR PREPARES TO SUE TO COLLECT INCOME TAXES

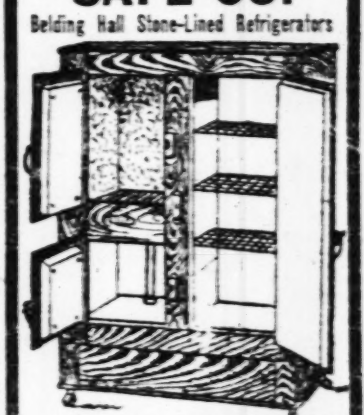

Collector Kohn is preparing to file civil suits against about 1700 individuals and corporations whose State income taxes for 1917, 1918 and 1919 have not been paid, although they made returns. The delinquent taxes amount to $66,451. Penalties may also be assessed. Court costs in each suit will amount to about $10, a total of about $22,000. A final notice has been mailed the delinquents, warning them to pay by Thursday to avoid suit.

It was said that most of the delinquents are unable to pay for financial reasons and that judgments may be hard to collect because few of those who may be sued are property owners. The delinquent taxes are in the following sums: 1919, $22,150; 1918, $16,001; and 1917, $12,300. State income tax returns for 1919 have been made but payment is not due until June 1, and must be made by then.

Police records show that Dahm has been paroled twice—in July, 1917, in the Juvenile Court following sentence for burglary of a shoe store, and on Jan. 11, 1920, after pleading guilty to a charge of larceny from a person. The original charge of first degree robbery was changed to the larceny charge when he agreed to plead guilty. In both cases he was paroled from the bench. He was discharged from the last parole in December, 1920.

The combination had been hammered off the safe, which contained $200 and valuable papers. Both men under arrest deny knowledge of the attempted robbery.

Discussed—Suit Filed to Break Will.*NIECE TELLS OF HIS FONDNESS FOR VIOLIN*Paid for Music Lessons of Two Relatives Until Told
They Did Not Practice
Enough, It Is Said.The social and artistic temperament of Jacob Lampert, cigar manufacturer, who died Feb. 19, leaving his entire fortune of $1,264,813, with the exception of $60,000, to his sister, Mrs. Rosa Graff of 5348 Pershing avenue, was discussed by witnesses yesterday when the taking of depositions in the suit filed by 11 nieces and nephews of Lampert to have the will set aside, was resumed
in the office of former Circuit Judge Moses N. Sale, as Special Commissioner.As has been told, one of the contestants, Miss Sylvia Geist of 5877
Nina place, a daughter of William Geist, Recording Clerk in the Circuit
Attorney's office, last Thursday related the details of a family quarrel
at the home of Mrs. Graff last Dec.
18, just 37 days before the will was made.The depositions were ordered at the request of the administrator, Dorsey Jamison, who desired to ascertain particulars concerning the allegation of the 11 nieces and nephews of Lampert that their aunt, Mrs. Graff, had influenced Lampert against them by carrying tales to him.Probate Judge Holtkamp has under advisement the application of the contestants, filed yesterday, for the appointment of an administrator pendente lite. If the application should be granted the administrator
under the will would be removed temporarily during the litigation in the Circuit Court.Was Fond of Violin.
Mrs. Theresa Rottermann of 457
Woodlawn avenue, Webster Groves,
one of the contesting nieces, told of Lampert's fondness for the violin. She said that she once painted for him a study of a violin and that he kept the picture hung in his living room up to the time of his death.Lampert for a time paid the music tuition of Mrs. Rottermann's three brothers, she said, all of whom took violin lessons at Lampert's request. Lampert used to carry his violin to the home of Mrs. Rottermann's father and he and the boys would play a symphony accompanied by Mrs. Rottermann on the piano.
They were regular Sunday night affairs for a long time, Mrs. Rotter-mann said, but suddenly "Uncle Jake," as she referred to him in her testimony, quit coming and he also quit paying for her brothers' lessons. The reason for the sudden change, she said, was that Mrs.
Graff had told him that the Rotter-mann boys were not devoting enough time to practice.A Birthday Incident.
Mrs. Rottermann also told of an incident when she and her mother and her aunt, Mrs. Graff, went down town together. Mrs. Graff excused herself, she said, and the following day when Lampert and Mrs.
Graff were taking dinner at the home of Mrs. Rottermann's mother, Lampert in lifting his plate found beneath it a necktie with Mrs.
Graff's card attached. It was then revealed that it was "Uncle Jake's" birthday. Mrs. Rottermann said that her mother felt bad because it was the first time she had overlooked the event and furthermore because Mrs. Graff had slipped away and purchased the tie the day before without saying anything about it."He Just Laughed and Said That Aunt Rosa Was Trying to Get on the Good Side of Him," the witness replied.
Mrs. Rottermann also stated that when her mother was ill Mrs. Graff annoyed her greatly by telling her things that "Uncle Jake" had said.
"Always Carrying Tales."
"She was always carrying tales,"
said the witness, referring to Mrs.
Graff. "She told my mother that Uncle Jake said that we girls ought to be doing something for the support of the family, that we ought to be working as cash girls, and that my brothers ought to be selling newspapers. The physician finally gave orders that Mrs. Graff was not to visit my mother's room."Miss Wilmett Geist, 19 years old, a sister of Miss Sylvia Geist, also told of the quarrel at Mrs. Graff's home in which Mrs. Graff is said to have taken Miss Sylvia Geist to task for having neglected to introduce her to a group of young men at a social function, and said that a few days later "Uncle Jake" met her on the street and mentioned the quarrel to her."I was convinced from what he said that Aunt Rosa was carrying tales," said Miss Geist.
"What did he say?" she was asked."He told me that my sister and I were wearing our evening gowns too short," she replied, "and that was one of the things that had come up at the quarrel."
Miss Geist was asked for more details of the quarrel."Well, my aunt said that Sylvia and I were wearing abbreviated dresses, and pushing our hair out big just to attract the attention of young men."
"What did Uncle Jake say in reference to that?"
"Well, he just mentioned it, and when I told him that Mrs. Graff's daughter, my cousin, Esther Graff, was wearing the same kind of clothes and her hair in the same style he said, 'Oh, forget it!'"
Mrs. Esther Freeman of 5518 Cab-anne avenue, another of the contest-ing nieces, testified that she had never said anything uncomplimentary about her uncle, although Mrs.
Graff had led him to believe that she had. She said that once, after Lampert had ordered her brother from his cigar factory, she had told
Mrs. Graff that she believed her uncle was wrong. That remark was repeated to Lampert soon after, she said.Dorothy Van Raalte, 18, another contestant, told of spending two weeks at the Graff home, where Lampert lived. She said that she was 15 years old then and that she and her uncle were very friendly.
They took breakfast together every morning, she said, and he was always jolly and full of conversation
until Mrs. Graff entered the room, and then, she said, "the atmosphere changed completely.""What do you mean?" she was asked.
"The change in my uncle's disposition toward me when my aunt entered the room was so manifest,"
she said. "He would quit talking and cutting up, and would settle down into silence, so far as I was concerned, carrying on a conversation only with my aunt."Relatives have stated that when Jacob Lampert was hustling to make his cigar business a success his brother, Joseph Lampert, studied the violin and eventually became a member of an orchestra. When Jacob Lampert had attained the success
he had sought he gave much of his spare time to playing the violin and encouraged his nephews to take up that branch of instrumental music.Suits Worth to $60!Not just a few, but many of them. If

The Year's Most Important—Yes, St. Louis' Most Important

SALE OF TOILET ARTICLES

will be held here Wednesday, introducing our new, enlarged and beautiful section of Toilet Goods and offering the best-known toilet preparations at extraordinary savings. With this section enlarged to almost double its former area, assuring utmost comfort when shopping, with stocks increased proportionately and with the sale prices the lowest in years, we feel justified in terming this the greatest sale of Toilet Articles ever held in St. Louis. Thousands of people will attend this sale and will supply their requirements for months to come. So that all may share alike, we will limit purchases to normal personal requirements and no mail or phone orders will be accepted. Some of the lots may not last the entire day.

Four Killed When Auto Leaves Road

ASTORIA, Ore., March 23.—Four persons, all residents of Oregon, were killed and another injured when the automobile in which they were riding ran off the Columbia highway near here, last night. An 18-month-old baby was the only person in the car unhurt. Gladstone Dawson, the driver, who died soon after the accident, said the car's steering gear broke.

DAWES TO DIRECT VOCATIONAL INQUIRY

Heads Committee of Eleven to Investigate Treatment of Disabled Service Men.

By the Associated Press. March 23.—A committee of 11, headed by Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, who served as a Brigadier-General with the American expeditionary forces, was appointed by President Harding today to conduct an inquiry into the administration by the War Risk Bureau Board for Vocational Training and Care and Treatment of Wounded or Impaired Service Men Generally.

New Device on Fuel Oil Ship.

BOSTON, March 23.—Naval vessels at sea may take on their supply of fuel oil under way through a device installed in the fuelship Pecos that is to be launched at the navy yard here April 23. DAUES WILL CONTEST SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Administration of Contractor's Estate to Go Forward in Probate Court.

The suit of Mrs. Florence May English of 5512 Etzel avenue to set aside the will of her father, John Henry Dawes, business partner of Mayor Kiel, was formally disposed of in the Circuit Court today following a settlement out of court. The will was proved up and formally declared the last will and testament of Dawes. The estate was assessed against the estate, Charles J. Fox, attorney for Mrs. English, refused to tell the terms of settlement. The estate, he said, did not amount to more than $25,000. Administration of the estate will now proceed in the Probate Court.

Dawes died Oct. 22, at the age of 71. By his will he left to Mrs. English, his only surviving child, $1. To Mayor Kiel he left stock in the Kiel & Dawes Bricklaying and Contracting Co. valued at $4000, and to Elmer A. Kiel, son of Mayor Kiel, stock of the Glenside Construction Co. valued at $2000. To Miss Rose C. Eswein, 23 years old, of 1820 Pestalozzi street, who was his nurse in the last three months of his illness, he left $1000 in United States bonds and a dividend interest in the Lone Star Construction Co., capitalized at $14,000, and there was a provision that his $4000 life insurance be used to remove a mortgage from the Lone Star company. The residue of the estate was left to the children.

Next Monday soak your clothes clean

With this new product there is no hard rubbing—no boiling

YOU will never again need the old wash-board and cake soap, the boiler, soda, scrubbing brushes and pails.

A new way of washing clothes is replacing the old exhausting methods that have made women dread washday for centuries.

This new way just soaks the dirt out of your clothes. You don't have to rub for hours to get things clean. You don't have to boil to get them white.

Just do next week's washing with Rinso.

Rinso is an entirely new form of soap in fine granules. It is made of higher quality ingredients than have ever before been used in a soap product for the family washing. There are no harsh chemicals to eat the fabrics, nothing that can injure them, no particles of solid soap to stick to the cloth. Just pure, cleansing granules, so mild they do not even redden your hands.

Rinso softens hard water. If you use hard water make an increased amount of the soap solution and continue adding it to your tub of cold water until you have a good rich suds.

Use Rinso on the hard things—the dish towels and kitchen aprons—the children's grubby play clothes. You will find it as remarkable for the regular weekly washing as Lux is for silks, woolsens and all fine fabrics.

Your grocer and the department stores have Rinso. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

known children. The suit alleged that Dawes was unduly influenced and that he was of unsound mind when he made the will. Joined with Mrs. English as plaintiffs in the suit were Myra and Flora Hyde, children of a deceased daughter of Dawes. It is understood that the other heirs surrendered a part of the bequests to them, which will

NEW PRESIDENT OF YALE HAS RARE BUSINESS ABILITY

NEW YORK, March 29.—An eminent educator who is also a business man, a man of proved business capacity who occupies an enviable position in the educational world—play
it whichever way you like and it applies equally well to the President-elect of Yale University, Dr. James Rowland Angell.

He sat at his desk in the office of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, 522 Fifth avenue, tenth floor, beside a window overlooking the city's most famous thoroughfare, and talked of every subject introduced save only what policies he plans to follow when he succeeds next June

NEW YALE HEAD TEACHER AND BUSINESS MAN

DR. JAMES ROWLAND ANGELL

Arthur Twining Hadley as chief executive of the great Connecticut school for men. He based his residence on that topic on the dictates of good taste and good manners.

"It seems advisable to wait until I assume the office before I talk of what I am going to do with it," he explained. Then, spontaneously, he told a story which evidently reflected his own present outlook on the job
at Yale.

"They have an advanced idea of faculty autonomy at the University of Virginia," he said. "After Dr. V.
A. Alderman, who went there as president from Tulane, had been in office for a time, somebody asked him how far he was able to go in carrying into effect his own policies.

"Oh, they let me attend faculty meetings," Alderman replied, "and sometimes they let me vote."

"President Lowell of Harvard said
the measure of his authority is the prestige of his personality and the value of his ideas."

Up to Yale Standards.
A short conversation with Dr.
Angell impresses one with the conviction that on both of these qualities he is likely to measure up to Yale standards.

A man of medium height, of strongly knit, well proportioned body, smooth-shaven, his thinning hair bordering on the receding—who is it he suggests? After a few minutes the answer comes, and it is a surprising one.

Distinctly the suggestion is of
New York City's most popular citizen, former Gov. Al Smith. Perhaps not every one will admit it. Nevertheless, it will be difficult to deny that if it came to a question of making up for a play Dr. Angell could be touched up for the part of the former Governor so as to present
a speaking likeness.

The similarity in general build and size, but most of all in the shape of the face and the part his nose plays in his physiognomy. It is a generous, prominent nose, like Smith's, the dominating feature. Dr.
Angell has had about four more years' experience in this vale of tears
than Smith—he is 51—and there are facial wrinkles which then—at present—trickman lacks. But unquestionably the similitude between the two men exists, and as if to confirm it and stamp it ineradicably there is a mannerism.

Both men talk out of the sides of their mouths.

Also both men talk freely and fluently. Conversationally they diverge at this point. At Smith's dictation accent are not Dr. Angell's. Each reflects his environment, the one according to metropolitan, the other 100 per cent academic.

When Dr. Angell talks, his caller feels a disinclination to interrupt. It is straightforward man talk, ideas fittingly clothed by a mind which welcomes no guidance from without.
You feel in listening to him a self-sufficiency without hint of intolerance or conceit, a brain working straight toward the point it seeks to make without hesitation or detour.

Athletic Hippodromes.

Two years ago in a paper read before the National Collegiate Athletic Association Dr. Angell declared his belief that the spirit of professionalism in college athletics is an evil.

"I believe that a good deal of the professional training of athletic teams, particularly in football," he said, "has been grossly objectionable in overworking boys whose primary obligation is to the academic aims of the college."

"I do not believe there is any obligation on the part of the college to furnish the general public with substitutes for the circus, the prize fight and the gladiatorial combat."

He was asked whether his view of college athletics had altered since this paper was read.

"I don't think so," he replied.
"There was much misapprehension and considerable misunderstanding of my position when that paper was made public. What I do oppose is the hippodroming of college athletics."

fired him for the work he undertook at the University of Minnesota and in 1894 at the University of Chicago, where he advanced in two years from an assistant professorship to head of the department of physiology.

Picked Him as Dean.
In 1905, however, he was picked
as dean of the university, and three years later as dean of the faculty,
which is tantamount to the presidency of the institution. In this position he was in charge of the intramural activities, while the president gave his attention to extramural affairs.

Many other interests claimed his attention during this and succeeding years. In 1914 he was called to Paris
as exchange professor at the Sor-bonne. In 1916 he became member of the Psychology Committee of the National Research Council, and during the war period was engaged in classification of personnel in the Adjutant-General's department. Less than a year ago he became head of the Carnegie corporation.

In this office Dr. Angell has been one of the two greatest distributors
of philanthropic money in the United States, the other being the chief of the Rockefeller Foundation.

"My principal occupation here,"
he said, "has been outlining policies.
Until Mr. Carnegie's death the corporation was principally an agency
for distributing his personal benevolence. After he died it became necessary to develop a scheme on established lines for administering the great fund he left."

"I have just returned from several months in the South, where I have conducted inquiries looking to the extension of the work in that section. It has been a heavy burden, there to any extent heretofore, I shall leave here with great regret, because I consider this a field of wide usefulness, and I am postponing as long as possible my departure
in order that opportunity may be enjoyed to select somebody to carry on the work."

One fact more about Dr. Angell to which attention has not been directed hitherto. That is that he is an American of the oldest New England stock.

There is a long, elm-shaded thoroughfare in Providence called Angell street. It takes its name from the fact that it ran through the "home plot" of an ancestor of Dr. Angell, who was one of the original settlers
of the tight little State of Rhode Island with Roger Williams in 1633.

There is a telephone exchange in Providence embracing a considerable part of the more exclusive residential section known as Angell, and it gives a stranger a singular sense of intimacy with the girls at central to call up a number of the Angell exchange.

APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply
Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the wounds right up, leaving a clear,
smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions,
rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You

SPECIAL GRAND JURY FOR NEGRO MURDERS

Investigation of Alleged Peonage
Cases in Georgia to Begin Friday or Saturday.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 29.—A special grand jury is expected to be convened in Jasper County Friday
or Saturday to investigate the alleged peonage cases at the John Williams plantation, where the bodies of 11 negroes have been discovered.

Solicitor-General Campbell of the Okmulgee Circuit Court will confer here with Gov. Dorsey on the case today. The Governor, it was said, has decided to send other Attorney-General Denny or Assistant Attorney-General Wright to Jasper County to be investigating other angles of the alleged peonage cases. Sheriff Persons of Jasper County and his nephew are under indictment and are to go on trial here April 4 on charges of having kidnaped negroes
and taken them into peonage.

miners of Allegheny County, Md., is made under the will of H. Crawford Black, financier, who died here last week.

Negro Found Guilty of Murder.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 22.—Henry Brown, negro deserter from the United States Navy, was tried and found guilty of murder in the first degree last evening in the United States Court.

He was charged with robbing and killing Miss Harriett M. Kavanough, a nurse at the United States Naval Academy, on the night of Jan. 14 last. She was killed by a blow on the head with a piece of iron pipe. The Federal law calls for the death penalty.

MAN SHOT BY STRANGER WHO WAITS IN ALLEY

Confectionary Proprietor, Stopped When on Way to Car, Says He Was Not Ordered to Put Hands Up.

TWO SEEN RUNNING AFTER SHOOTING

Another Man Beaten by Two Who Force Way Into Home—Cigar Store at 4904 Delmar Held Up.

Julius C. Whitehead, 35 years old, of 2127 South King's highway, was shot in the abdomen, near an alley on Channing avenue, between Pine and Olive streets, at 11:30 o'clock last night by an unidentified man who escaped. He was taken to the city hospital, where surgeons said that his condition was critical.

Whitehead told the police that he had just left his place of business, a confectionary at 2556 Pine street, and was on his way to catch an Olive street car when he was halted by a man who stopped in the alley and pointed a revolver at him. The man said nothing and when Whitehead stepped back he fired a shot and ran away.

Adolph Klaber, a brother-in-law and business partner of Whitehead, who had remained at the confectionary, heard the shot and ran around the corner, where he found Whitehead lying on the sidewalk. He said he saw no one running away.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kramel of 1111A North Compton avenue, who were walking north on Channing avenue, just ahead of Whitehead, told the police that they saw two men at the alley and heard them conversing in what sounded like a foreign language. Just as they reached Olive street, they said, they heard a shot and saw the two men run east through the alley leading to Compton avenue.

Whitehead said that his assailant did not order him to put up his hands. He said that the man who shot him was a stranger to him and that he did not see a second man. Man Beaten by Two Who Force Way Into His Home.

Steven Tattisch of 2841 South Main street was severely beaten on the head with revolvers by two men who forced their way into his home at 11 p. m., under the pretext that they were prohibition enforcement officers. The assailants escaped and he was taken to the city hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and numerous cuts on the scalp.

Tattisch said that the men knocked at his front door, and when he asked who was there one replied that they were Government men in search of liquor. The door was not locked and the men pushed it open, and when Tattisch tried to prevent them from entering the house they began beating him. He yelled for help and the men fled.

Thomas Dunn, who has a meat market at the northeast corner of Elliot avenue and North Market street, at 5:50 o'clock this morning was ordered into the lobby by two men with revolvers who took $7 from the cash register and escaped.

Cigar Store Held Up.
A man walked into the branch of the United Cigar Stores Co. at 4904 Delmar boulevard at 8 p. m. and, after purchasing a package of cigarettes, ordered the manager, Arthur Brinard of 4515 Delmar boulevard, to put up his hands. A customer was standing in the telephone booth in the rear of the store, but the robber paid no attention to him, walked behind the counter and took $15 from the cash register. He then backed out of the store and ran west on Delmar.

Girl Robbed by Two Negroes.

Miss Marie Evans of 1885 South Thirteenth street was robbed of her purse containing $8.50 and two rings by two negroes at Twentieth and Olive streets at 9:45 p. m.

Mrs. Maud Piper, 3214 Pershing avenue, discovered a burglar in her bedroom at 9:30 p. m., and ran next door to telephone for policemen. When the policemen arrived the burglar had escaped without taking anything.

Four photographs valued at $450 and 35 piano music rolls were stolen last night from the storeroom of the Smith Piano Co., 4245 Olive street. The offices of the St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange, 1824 Arcade building, were ransacked by burglars last night. Locks on several desks were broken and the combination numbers of the safe, written on a slip of paper, were obtained from one of the desks. The combination was worked and the inner door of the safe was "timed," but all the burglars got was $15 worth of postage stamps.

WOMAN 87, DIES AT MASS

Mrs. Anna E. Wedale, 87 years old, a widow, collapsed while attending mass yesterday at St. Bonifacius Church, Michigan avenue and Schirmer street, and after being carried to a physician's office at 7218 Michigan avenue, was found to be dead. It is believed that death was due to heart disease.

She resided with her son-in-law, Patrolman Joseph Scutte, of 7218 Virginia avenue. She was accompanied to the church by two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Drel of 7218 Virginia avenue, and Mrs. Mary Schug, 64 Lemay ferry road.

AND JELLIES

With that good old Home-made taste

The six-cylinder overhead-valve Oakland engine delivers 44 horsepower, far more than other engines of similar size. It has very light but strong reciprocating parts which minimize vibration, a superior method of vaporizing fuel, and the best lubricating system yet devised. In no other motor car in the world can you get these important features at the Oakland price.

Look at Mother! Child's Tongue

Give "California Syrup of Figs" only—Say "California"

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating, and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. Give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food, and sour bile gently pass and you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless laxative because it never fails. Children dearly love its delicious, "fruity" taste. Full directions for babies and for children of all ages printed on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits. Mother, you must say "California." If you don't say "California" you may get an imitation fig syrup.

WOMAN AND MAN KILLED WHEN AUTO RUNS OFF VIADUCT

Bride of One Week Plunges 10 Feet in Car; Her Companion Is Hurlled From Machine.

Dr. Rolla Bracy, Coroner of St. Louis County, today called attention to the dangerous character, in his opinion, of the bridge which carries Natural Bridge road over the Wash tracks west of Normandie. His statement was made at an inquest in Wellston over the body of Mrs. Harriet Middleton, 26 years old, who was killed last night about 7 o'clock when an automobile driven by Tony Catanzaro, 29, of 717 Carr street, a fruit dealer, plunged through the north half of the bridge as he drove upon it from the east. Catanzaro was fatally injured, dying on the way to Mullanphy Hospital.

Mrs. Middleton was married one week ago to Charles Middleton, a bartender, who resides at the St. James Hotel, 210 North Seventeenth street.

Coroner Bracy called attention to the fact that the approach to the bridge is several feet wider than its roadway, and that it was possible that vehicle drivers would not notice this fact until close upon the roadway, whereupon they would be called upon to turn sharply.

Otto Frank, a Deputy Constable, who gave the only testimony at the inquest, said that he arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred and that it was apparent that Catanzaro's automobile had skidded. Dr. Bracy also noted that the bridge was painted red, which would appear black under the glare of headlights, and hence would be less easily distinguishable at night than if it were painted white.

Residents along the much-traveled road said that their attention was attracted to the car, a sport model, by its high speed as it approached the bridge. The machine struck a 2x8 guard rail at the side of the viaduct and tore away a portion about two feet long. This two-foot piece pierced the radiator, continued on, struck Catanzaro, and apparently carried him out through the back of the car. The car plunged off the viaduct 10 feet and came to rest with its back at about the bridge level.

Mrs. Middleton was pinioned beneath the front end. Her neck was broken. She was dead when a physician's office in Pine Lawn was reached. Catanzaro died in an ambulance on the way to Mullanphy Hospital.

Middleton left his place of residence to go to his work in East St. Louis about 6 p. m. The police were told that Catanzaro appeared at the hotel shortly afterward and that Mrs. Middleton entered his automobile. Middleton said today that he had not known Catanzaro.

Druggist Injured When Auto Is Struck by Train

John Wasem, 33, years old, 1016A McCausland avenue, proprietor of a drug store at Pennsylvania avenue and Kirkwood-Ferguson tracks, University City, suffered a fractured right foot and a wrenched hip at 8:25 p. m. yesterday when an automobile he was driving was struck at Pennsylvania avenue by an in-bound Rock Island passenger train. He was taken to his home, where his condition is said to be serious.

Wasem was driving north on Pennsylvania avenue and failed to see or hear the train. His automobile, a Ford coupe, was thrown from the track and Wasem was thrown out. The engineer, M. J. Hines, said he saw the automobile but thought it would stop for the crossing.

An automobile driven by R. J. Davidson of 5235 Minerva avenue at 5 p. m. yesterday, collided with the motor cycle of Harold Kehlenbrink, 19 years old, a messenger, of 4193 North Twenty-second street, at Twentieth and Locust streets, throwing Kehlenbrink from his machine. Kehlenbrink suffered a fractured left foot.

Earl Boehman, 11, of 1517 Persimmon street, suffered cuts and bruises about the scalp when struck at Grand and Kossuth avenues by an automobile driven by Rosa Lewin, an optician, of 5630 Pershing avenue.

An automobile truck driven by Samuel Harris of 4007 Easton avenue, while being driven west on Delmar boulevard, west of Rosedale avenue, collided at 3 p. m. with a number of wooden paving blocks which had been buckled up by the rains. The truck was thrown against the side of an eastbound Olive street car and was damaged. Harris was cut and bruised about the scalp and left thigh.

Charles Rosenthal, 10, of 4926 Tissee avenue, suffered a fractured skull and ribs and internal injuries at 4 p. m. when knocked down and run over by an automobile driven by Clarence C. Smith, of 5811A Washington boulevard, at St. Louis avenue and King's highway boulevard. Policeman Aubuchon, who was on the corner at the time guarding school children, reported he had signalled a dozen children to stop and had waved the automobile to proceed when Rosenthal ran in front of him and directly in the path of the machine.

Charles Klages, 15, of 1254 South Vandeventer avenue, suffered a torn scalp when knocked off his bicycle in collision with an automobile driven by John Casser of 539 South Vandeventer avenue at Sarah and Gratiot streets.

HELEN KELLER TALKS TO THEATER AUDIENCE

Though Blind and Deaf, She "Feels" the Light and Knows
When Music Is Sad.

Helen Keller, deaf, blind and once dumb, and now in her forty-first year able to talk, though she has never within her memory heard a human voice, is making her first St.
Louis appearance in vaudeville at the Orpheum Theater this week, in company with Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, who has been her teacher
since 1887.

The demonstration is at once up-lifting and painful. It calls up visions of the long years of almost hopeless toil which Mrs. Macy and other educators devoted to the high purpose of letting a little light into a mind that was closed to the outer world, but it also presents the sad picture of that mind, still cruelly hemmed in, trying to reflect the light back through the tiny cranny of halting speech mechanically and laboriously acquired.

Miss Keller "hears" through her fingers. She places her thumb on Mrs. Macy's throat, her first finger on her lips and her third finger on the side of her nose. As is explained by Mrs. Macy it is necessary for Miss Keller to note the differing vibrations in the throat, lips and nostril in order to understand what is being said to her. This is astonishingly difficult, but even more so was her achievement in learning to talk, for
in order to repeat a sound it is necessary for her to set up in her own throat, lips and nose the exact combination of vibrations which will produce that sound. And this is not all. After learning to repeat the vibrations which make what we know
as sound she must store them up in her memory, and this she has done
until she is now readily able to form sentences in answer to questions.

Considering the handicap with which she started it is difficult to conceive anything more wonderful than that she should now have a large vocabulary and a well developed power of association of ideas.
Her speech is not like that of others. She has no hearing to guide
her in the modulation of her voice.
At times it requires the closest attention to distinguish her words, but there are some words which come with startling distinctness. She answers questions put to her by the audience, through Mrs. Macy. Yesterday she told the audience that she could distinguish between sunlight and the theater footlights because the sunlight gave her a sense of its motion. "The sunlight," she said, "always seems to be going somewhere, but these lights are still." Asked how she could tell when music was playing she said:
"I can feel the vibration in my feet.
It comes through the floor." She also volunteered the information that she could distinguish differences in music. "Sometimes," she said, "it is bright and sometimes it is slow and sad."

Miss Keller closes her act with a little speech in which she says she hopes all those who have observed
what has been done for her will have a greater realization of the value of being kind to each other and of the great truth that "God is love."

The other numbers on the Orpheum bill are unusually bright and entertaining. Edith Clasper, with the assistance of Nelson Snow and Charles Columbus, has a colorful and swift-moving dancing turn. Jack Rose, "nut" comedian; McCormack
and Irving, dialogists; Earl Dewey
and Mabel Rogers, in a Gals Lait
sketch; the acrobatic Le Crocks and George N. Brown in demonstrations of heel-and-toe walking also are on the program.

ASSOCIATION OF MACHINISTS TRADE AGENT FOR MEXICO

Body to Assist Manufacturers Who Have been Fair to Organized Labor in Getting Orders.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 23.—The International Association of Machinists, with headquarters here, has been named commercial representative of the Mexican Government in this country. The organization will act as official adviser to the Mexican Government, which has been asked to use products of "union shops" only in the establishments under its control.

An active market now exists in Mexico, according to Secretary E. C.
Davison of the machinists, for farm machinery and standard railroad equipment. The policy of his office under the agreement, he said, would be to assist manufacturers of these products who have been fair to organized labor in placing orders with the Southern republic.

It is understood that the Mount Vernon Savings Bank, which is controlled by the machinists' association, will be utilized for necessary financing operations.

Negotiations looking to a similar appointment of the association by the present Russian Government are understood to have been instituted. Officials of the machinists are now awaiting a reply to definite proposals they have made to Russia.

15 Indicted for Attempted Lynching.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Va., March 23.—Fifteen white men were indicted by a grand jury in the Halifax Circuit Court yesterday, in connection with the attempted lynching March 20 of Joseph Coleman, a negro held in the county jail as a suspect in the murder of William Rickman, white. Each indictment contained two counts, one charging conspiracy to break into the jail and the other charging attempt to kill. All of the men indicted were arrested, but later were released under bond of $10,000 each.

FACTS ABOUT THE 15 CANDIDATES FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

resided for 20 years in Clayton. She is a high school graduate, attended the State Teachers' College at Warrensburg, served as a substitute teacher and, for five years, was principal of Mt. Olive School on the Olive Street road. Was a delegate to the Democratic State convention and served as president of the Twenty-eighth Ward Cox-Roosevelt Club. Has been a member of the State Teachers' Association and the National Educational Association, and has held membership in the Civic League, Art League and the Citizens' Committee of the City Plan Commission. Has served on the executive board of every citizens' committee formed to aid school board campaigns; was chairman of the women's division in Library Fund for Soldiers and Sailors, speaker on food conservation, registration and navy enlistment; affiliated with all St. Louis child welfare organizations. Member of the Sorority Circle, Cabanne Methodist Church, University Music Research Club, W. C. T. U. and Women's chamber of Commerce, and vice president of the Parent-Teachers' Council. She has four children, three of whom attend Soltan High School.

Charles J. Lammert, 44 years old, 2054 South Grand avenue, president of the Building Trades Council for the past eight years and secretary of the Painters' District Council for the past 20 years; was Democratic member of the Board of Election Commissioners under Gov. Gardner, and before that, served four years of a six-year term on the Board of Education, resigning that position in 1916 to become a member of the Election Board. When he left the Board of Education a resolution was unanimously adopted by the other members, commending him for his services. In 1915 he caused work to be stopped on the construction of the Grover Cleveland High School by calling attention to defects in the work, which was being executed by nonunion labor. The Board of Education investigated his complaint and as a result the contract for the building was abrogated and the work was done by union workmen under the supervision of the board. He is a member of the Mayor's supervisory committee in charge of the expenditures of bond issue money. He has the endorsement of the Building Trades Council, the Central Trades and Labor Union and the Metal Trades Council. His education was obtained in the parochial schools and the public night schools. He has four children, two in Central High School and another in the Scruggs School.

Frances N. Anderson (Mrs. Roscoe Anderson), 5786 Kingsbury boulevard, 38 years old, wife of an attorney, Democrat; educated in Jefferson City public schools, received degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, and a life certificate to teach, from University of Missouri in 1908; taught for two years in public schools at Jefferson City; married in 1909 and came to St. Louis; secretary of the National Association of Collegiate Alumnae; member Tuberculosis Society; member advisory board, Missouri School of Social Economy; during the war in charge of public information of the Food Administration division here, and instructor in Red Cross work; member Children's Lunch Association and chairman of the group at Webster School.

INCOME TAX CASE DECISIONS RELIEF TO THE TREASURY

stitutional amendment and the acts of Congress.

Contention Quickly Dismissed.
The opinion quickly dismissed a contention that the word "income" as used in the sixteenth amendment did not include the gain realized by a single transaction, but only profits realized by one engaged in buying and selling as a business.

"It is sufficient to say of this contention," the court ruled, "that no such distinction was recognized in the Civil War income tax act or in the income tax act of 1894. The interesting and ingenious argument which is pressed upon us, fails to convince us that a construction should be adopted which would in a large measure defeat the purpose of the amendment."

"Plainly the gain we are considering was derived from the sale of personal property and very certainly the comprehensive last clause (in section 2): 'Gains or profits and income from any source whatever' must also include it. If the trustee is a taxable person within the meaning of the act."

The reasoning in the case of the Ryerson estate was held to cover fully the court's decision in the appeal brought by David M. Goodrich, of New York, involving taxation of profits on investment capital except that in one transaction Goodrich showed an actual loss from the price he had paid for the securities. The ruling of the tax assessor that the value as of March 1, 1913, which was below the cost price in 1913 and the subsequent sale price in 1914, only would be considered was reversed by the Supreme Court.

Provisions of Tax Act.
The act under which the tax was assessed provides that the net income of the individual shall include "gains and profits," the opinion said. "Thus it is very plain that this statute imposes the income tax on proceeds of personal property to the extent only that gains are derived therefrom and since no gain was derived on this transaction, no tax could be assessed against the vendor."

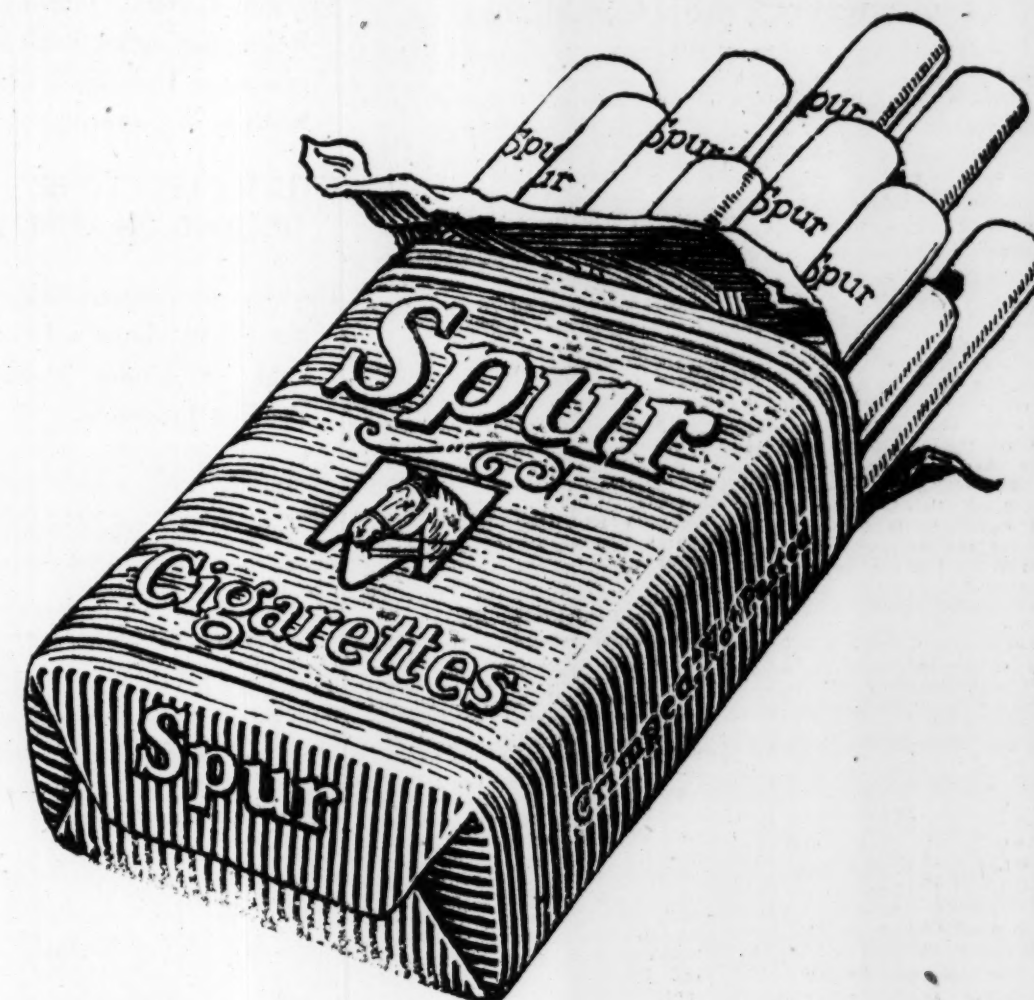

In the third case settled—Walsh, Collector, v. Brewster—the same points were considered. Decision of Connecticut courts that the Government could not collect a tax on an increase in the value of securities purchased and held for investment was reversed, the Supreme Court again making the point that the tax could only be collected where the proceeds showed a profit over the purchase price.

Elimination of the March 1, 1913, "upset line" through the opinions was in conformity with the voluntary action taken by the Government's advocates during the arguments of the cases. Solicitor-General Frierson at that time "confessed error" so far as tax assessments had been made on apparent profits figures from March 1, 1913, when a comparison with the purchase price showed the investor to have suffered an actual loss. For purposes of computing the proportion of profits to be assessed, however, that date, as set forth in the 1913 statute still stands under the court's ruling.

FIGURES ON ST. LOUIS FACTORY PRODUCTS

Value in 1914 Was $365,498, 522, and Last Year Total
Was $895,396,279.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—
The total value of manufactured products in the City of St. Louis increased during the war from $365, 498,522 in 1914 to $895,396,279 in 1919, according to figures announced today by A. T. Edmonston, statistical clerk in the office of William H. Lewis, State Labor Commissioner.
The increase in Kansas City during the war was from $61,745,894
in 1914 to $209,819,270 in 1919. The increase in St. Joseph was even greater, the 1914 figures being $17, 289,479 as compared to $180,110,640
in 1919. However, the packing-house products of South St. Joseph were not included in the totals for that city until the figures for 1919
were compiled.

Increase in Workers.
The number of persons employed also shows great increases for the war period, but not in as great proportion as the increase in product values. In St. Louis in 1919 there were a total of 107,872 workers,
while in 1914 the total was 147,620,
of which $3,185 were women and 109,435 men. The number employed in Kansas City in 1914 was 19,303, while in 1919 this had increased to 26,453. The increase in St. Joseph was from 4478 in 1914 to 11,532 in 1919, the latter figure including the packing-house employees.

Growth in Value of Products.
The totals for values of manufactured products, number of workers and wages paid show about the same percentage of increase for each of
the years from 1914 to 1919, inclusive, except that the value of products
showed greater gains in 1917, 1918
and 1919 in proportion. The value of materials and supplies used also shows proportionate increases, the totals for St. Louis being $206,427,
546 in 1914 and $163,377,545 in 1919.
The Kansas City totals for value of manufactured products were $31,
1919.

BROTHERS ON HONEYMOON REPORT LOSING BRIDES

Michigan Husband's Sister Disappeared When Riding in Auto With Woman.

By the Associated Press.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 29.—
Mrs. Agnes Hetzel, 18 years old, and Mrs. Thelma Hetzel, 20 years old, who recently married Henry and Jacob Hetzel, brothers of Atlanta, Mich., have mysteriously disappeared, the bridegrooms have reported to the local police.

The newly married couples were
on an automobile honeymoon trip,
when, according to their story, soon after passing Akron Sunday, their car was stopped by a woman standing beside a big touring car, who appealed to the men to change a tire for her. As the men worked,
the women chatted together. When the tire was changed the stranger requested the brides to ride with her, saying she was lonely. The car sped away. The husbands' fears were aroused when they reached North Jackson and found no one who had seen the automobile containing the three women.

WOMAN LEADS PATROLMAN TO HUSBAND'S LIQUOR SUPPLY

Two Gallon Keg of Whisky and Two Barrels of Mash Found.

When Mrs. Zelder Shubert of 1412
Carr street last night decided to have the Volstead act enforced in her own home, it resulted within a few minutes in the arrest of her husband,
Abe Shubert, 58 years old.

Mrs. Shubert, obviously in bad temper, told a policeman whom she met at Fourteenth and Wash streets:
"I'm tired of having a lot of booze around my house. Come on with me."

The patrolman followed and Mrs.
Shubert led him to her home, where he found Shubert sitting beside a two-gallon keg of moonshine whisky.
In an adjoining room the policeman
found two barrels of mash, each giving off a sour, disagreeable odor. No
still was found, but the policeman arrested Shubert and confiscated the whisky and mash.

Dies From Alcohol Poisoning.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 29.—Willie Reed Dunroy, poet and widely known as a press agent, died here last night of wood alcohol poisoning. Men with whom he had been associated lately
said that he had not taken a drink
for years, but yesterday he asked a friend for one to cure a cold. Dun-roy was 45 years old and, in his younger days, was a protégé of William Jennings Bryan, who paid his way through the University of Nebraska.

DEMOCRATS TO AWAIT HYDE'S ACTION ON BILLS

Invoking of Referendum Against Reorganization Measures Considered at Meeting.

The Executive Committee of the Democratic State Committee, which met at the Planters Hotel yesterday
to consider whether the referendum
should be invoked against the consolidation bills passed by the Legislature in Gov. Hyde's reorganization program, adjourned without taking any action.

Following a conference with a committee of eight Democratic members of the Legislature, four Senators and four Representatives, a joint committee was formed and after the question was discussed at considerable length the following statement was issued:

"Whereas executive action has not been taken on many important measures enacted by the Fifty-first General Assembly, which measures are of vital concern to the public welfare, this joint committee recommends that decision as to the policy to be adopted by this body be deferred until a later date."

The report was signed by former Lieutenant-Governor Wallace Crossley, Frank H. Harris of Rolla and Judge John S. Farrington of Springfield Court of Appeals, representing the conference, and Senators Tillman Anderson of Scott, Michael Kinney of St. Louis, Michael Casey of Kansas City and James H. White-cotton of Monroe, and Representatives D. E. Killam of Lincoln, J. W.
Head of Marion, Charles Ferguson
of Ripley and William Hicks of Kansas City, representing the Legislature.

Former Governor Gardner, John
M. Atkinson, who was defeated for Governor, and Breckinridge Long,
who was defeated for the United States Senate, participated in the conference. Many officeholders, whose jobs are affected by the consolidation bills, were present. State Chairman C. E. Tancay presided.

WIDOW OF INVENTOR OF THE PULLMAN CAR DIES

Mrs. George M. Pullman, Mother-in-law of Former Gov. Lowden of Illinois, Succumbs in Pasadena.

By the Associated Press.
PASADENA, Cal., March 29.—
Mrs. Hattie Sanger Pullman, widow of George M. Pullman, the inventor of the Pullman car, died here yesterday after a brief illness. She was 79 years old. Her son-in-law and daughter, former Gov. and Mrs.
Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, were with her when death came.

With the Lowdens and their four children, Mrs. Pullman came here early in the winter. Her advanced age made the fight against the attack difficult. Death came in a hotel where she and her relatives had apartments.

The body will be sent to Illinois
for burial.

Another daughter of Mrs. Pullman is Mrs. Hattie Carolan. The Pullman estate is variously estimated at from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000.

BARTENDER HELD WHEN LIQUOR IS FOUND IN SHED AT SALOON

Police in Series of Raids Arrest 57
Other Persons on Various Charges.

Frank Klimbach, bartender in the saloon of Victor Panus, 1120
O'Fallon street, was arrested last night. Detectives found nothing in the saloon on which a charge of violating the liquor laws could be based,
but in a shed at the rear of the building they found a five-gallon jug and a one-gallon bottle of whisky and 24
bottles of bitters.

Then they returned to the saloon
and arrested Klimbach, who protested on the ground that he had been testing bar in the saloon and not in the shed. Despite his protest
he spent the night in jail.

In other raids made by police, 57
persons were arrested. At 2019 Chestnut street 25 negroes who were found grouped about a pool table
were arrested, suspected of gambling.
Four women and a man were arrested at 1213A Market street, charged with frequenting a disorderly house,
and at 1404 Market street five negroes were arrested for gambling.

QUICK-THINKING MAIL TRUCK DRIVER FOOLS THREE ROBBERS

Commanded to Throw "Money Bag" Into Auto, Chicagoan Gives Them
Nonregistered Mail.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 29.—Quick thinking by Robert Burdette, driver of a Government mail truck, frustrated the plans of three robbers
who tried to obtain registered mail
from him today.

Commanded, under threat of pistols, to throw the "money bag" into their automobile, Burdette tossed two sacks of nonregistered mail into the thieves' machine. They compelled him to ride two blocks with them, then pushed him out.

Burdette ran back to his truck,
drove to a suburban postal station in the Cicero district, and reported the occurrence.

$10,000,000 DAMAGE TO MISSOURI FRUIT

Estimate of Secretary of State Board of Agriculture Based on Two Freezes.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—A heavy freeze, which was general over the State last night, added materially to the damage done to fruit by the snowstorm and blighting drop in temperature Sunday night.

Jewell Mayes, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, and E. A. Logan, United States agricultural statistician at Columbia, composing the co-operative Farm Crop Reporting Bureau, announced at noon that they officially estimated the damage to Missouri fruit Sunday night and last night at $10,000,000.

Mayes said the second freeze probably killed most of the early fruit, excepting berries, which, late reports indicate, have withstood the low temperature remarkably well.

From a casual examination, one who was not familiar with fruit would say that the crop this year was a total failure, but this is not true, said Mayes. "The history of late freezes in the spring, followed by a few days of cloudy weather, shows them to be less injurious than freezes followed by bright, sunny days. The scientific explanation is that the fruit cells are broken down by the frost or freeze, and when the weather moderates and remains cloudy, the fruit cell vitality is revived. If the weather changes to clear, with warm sunshine, the fruit invariably dies. Last year we had a freeze and then a few days of cloudy weather, which enabled a portion of the fruit to recover, but this freeze is followed by unfavorable weather."

"But even with conditions as they are, the fruit crop will not be a total failure this year. In fact, I expect to see a great deal of all varieties of fruit. A tree may be laden with blossoms, but the blossoms are not produced at one time all of the blossoms that are in the stage of development. It is these buds that yield the fruit crop in Missouri this year. There are many freaks in the development of all varieties of fruit. One farmer may lose his entire crop by a light freeze or heavy frost, while his neighbor may produce a crop. The air currents and the range of the hills adjoining the orchards have much to do in killing or protecting fruit."

Peaches Reported Killed.
Reports from West Plains and Brandeville, in the heart of the peach belt, received last night, stated that the early peach crop in that section was killed, and that other varieties of fruit had been seriously damaged. Mayes said the reports from all parts of the State indicated that early apples and peaches were ruined, but he thought there would be a fair crop of winter apples, although do not blossom until later, although they are more advanced than they should be. On March 19, he said, the average condition of fruit and vegetables development paralleled 30 to 40 per cent of the early fruit in the western part of the county had perished.

Frank C. Schwenk of Allentown, who has 500 trees in his orchard, "Appledale," said he had used smudge pots, and hoped that he had saved 40 or 50 per cent of his fruit.

Orchardists About Springfield Believe Destruction Is Complete.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 29.—The severe freeze of last night is believed to have completed the destruction of the Ozark fruit crop. Orchardists this morning expressed the belief that with the exception of the last to bud, there will be practically no fruit.

Edison Expresses Sorrow at Death of Burroughs.
By the Associated Press.
WEST ORANGE, N. J., March 29.—Thomas A. Edison, a member of a small party of intimate friends who accompanied John Burroughs on his annual camping trips in the last four years, expressed deep sorrow today upon learning of the naturalist's death.

"To me he was always expected to be one of the highest types yet evolved in the advance of men to a higher stage," said the inventor.

Other members of the camping party were Henry Ford and Hudson Maxim. On their camping trips, woodchopping contests were always a matter of keen competition, and in this sport Burroughs always acquitted himself creditably.

Frost Kills Blossoms on Fruit Trees in Maryland.
BALTIMORE, March 29.—Black frost spread over the State last night, bringing death to blossoms and buds on fruit trees, thousands of which were in full blossom all over the State.

Missouri U. Professor Believes Damage Has Been Overestimated.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., March 29.—Prof. W. R. Gardner of the School of Horticulture of the University of Missouri said this morning that Missouri may yet have a full apple crop. He said that spring freezes usually result in damage to the fruit, but that the damage resulting always overestimated and he believes that it has been this spring. He believes, however, in Central Missouri the commercial peach and pear crops have been wiped out.

Prof. W. C. Ethridge of the Agricultural College is of the opinion that wheat in Missouri is injured at least and that the injury to other field crops is not nearly so extensive as was believed previously.

Epsom Salts Like Lemonade

A few cents buys a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which is real epsom salts combined with fruit derivatives, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade. You get all the splendid physical action of a dose of epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea. Try it when bilious, head-achy or constipated.

Warning! Don't merely ask for "tasteless epsom salts" or you may get a soda imitation. Always ask for "Epsomade Salts" and look for the name, American Epsom Association.

C. H. CHAMBERS HAD ADVENTUROUS CAREER

Noted Dramatist, Who Is Dead, Was Once a Stockrider in Australian Bush.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch, Copyright, 1931, by the Press Publishing Co., The New York World.

LONDON, March 29.—Charles Haddon Chambers, playwright, died here early yesterday in his sixty-second year after suffering a stroke while at dinner Sunday night. He had just returned from the south of France.

Chambers had an unusually adventurous career, having been in turn a civil servant, a stock rider in the Australian bush, a newspaper man, a story writer and a playwright. He got his first "chance" through the late Sir Herbert Tree, who liked his work and asked him to write a play, which resulted in "Captain Swift."

The playwright was so poor at this time that he had to borrow a cut-away coat from a friend to attend the first performance. Last year Chambers was married secretly to the dancer, Miss Paula Bonadina, who is now appearing in "The Garden of Allah."

Sir Arthur Pinero said appreciatively of Chambers: "His work was successful because it was of a very high quality, the product of a thoughtful mind. He did his work slowly and deliberately. His inventiveness was one of his best characteristics."

Made Many Contributions to Both American and English Stage.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The contributions of C. Haddon Chambers to the American stage have been almost as numerous as to the English theater. By many he was thought to be English. He was, however, an Australian, having been born in Sydney on April 22, 1869.

He held for a time a minor office in the civil government of New South Wales and then, aspiring to become a playwright, moved to London. His first two efforts, "One of Them" and "The Open Gate," attracted no attention, and then, with the manuscript of "Captain Swift" in his pocket, he sought Herbert Beerbohm Tree at the Haymarket Theater in 1915.

Tree was at that time a rising young actor-manager, and was being importuned daily to read plays by unknown writers. He did his best to avoid Chambers, who for weeks waited patiently in the manager's outer office. Late one afternoon Tree hurried away from the theater to take a Turkish bath. When he was about to compose himself for a nap, a young man on the next couch suggested that possibly he had time to listen to the reading of a new play. It was Chambers with the manuscript of "Captain Swift."

Appreciating the humor of the situation and admiring the young writer's persistence, Tree told him to read the play. At the end of the first act the actor-manager was greatly impressed. When the second act was finished Tree invited the author to dine with him that evening. Before the end of the dinner "Captain Swift" had been accepted for production.

Beginning of Tree's Success.

The play, which was produced during the following September, was the real beginning of Tree's long and successful career and the foundation of the very ample fortune which he left when he died about two years ago.

Chambers then sought an American production and "Captain Swift" was acted shortly afterward at the Madison Square Theater under the management of A. M. Palmer. It was one of the great successes of its day, with Maurice Barrymore in the title role and such fine players as Rose Coghlan, Annie Russell, W. J. Ferguson, Agnes Booth and J. P. Stoddard in the lesser parts.

From this time Chambers' plays, which appeared in rapid succession, won general popularity. Most of them received hearings in New York, some before their London productions.

Was Friend of Charles Frohman.

The dramatist made many journeys to this country and became one of Charles Frohman's small circle of intimate friends. When Frohman lost his life in the Lusitania, Chambers was writing "The Saving Grace" for him. It was produced at the Empire Theater four years later with Cyril Maude in the leading character. Its predecessor here was "Passers By," which had a run at the Criterion Theater with Charles Cherry in the cast.

Among 25 or more melodramas and comedies from Chambers' pen, there may be pleasantly recalled by New York playgoers "The Tyranny of Tears," "John o' Dreams," "The Fatal Card," "Boys Together," "The Honorable Herbert," "A Modern Magdalene," "Sir Anthony," "Tante" and "Luzann."

may be more economical ideas, but I insist that some idea should be presented and then let us take counsel and adopt the best idea and go ahead and do business, remembering all the while there is great conflict of interest in the present Terminal Company, whether it is admitted or not—first, over the question of the absorption of east and west bound rates; second, from the fact that some of the members have independent facilities whereby for a great deal of freight they do not use the Terminal at all.

"All of these things, together with the lack of facilities, costs and delays in the movement of freight, retard the service, and as transporter of any character is vital to the progress and growth of a city, the growth of St. Louis is retarded in the exact ratio that the transportation is retarded, and for the interest of the railroad companies in the city as a whole and the should be promptly settled."

St. Louis is making an experiment in naming Rudolph Ganz, director of its orchestra. Mr. Ganz has had no experience in conducting. Other men, however, similarly inexperienced, have more than justified their choice. Leopold Stokowski, who has made the Philadelphia orchestra pre-eminent and is considered, in authoritative opinion, the country's foremost conductor, was a novice, as a conductor, when placed in charge of the Cincinnati orchestra.

who, like Ganz, was a concert pianist before Detroit

afford him the opportunity in which he has scored brilliantly.

As a pianist and teacher Mr. Ganz has an established position. Back of that is the heritage of music education that is, of necessity, a composite. His reputation, gained by an attractive personality, enables him to qualify him for leadership. It is known, too, that a plebiscite of the orchestra, if such an intemperance is permissible, on the three guest conductors the vote was almost unanimously for Ganz.

Another element of value in the selection is the new conductor's celebrity. The Ganz conductorship will command wide professional interest. In box-office parlance, Director Ganz will be an attraction when the St. Louis orchestra is on tour. And in the future the tour will have to be a bigger feature than has been in the past if the orchestra is to fulfill its educational and practical obligations.

With the experience of Philadelphia and Detroit sanction our daring. St. Louis may look forward realistically with a good deal of confidence, provided we give Conductor Ganz the same generous and loyal support that Detroit and Philadelphia have given.

HISTORY OF ST. LOUIS.
Chapter II.

LIKE Caesar, Major Kiel did not leave his achievements to the testimony of people who might not have been there.

In St. Louis is a question; but one thing is certain—the taxpayers were busy digging for gold. This was the song of St. Louis, chanted at evening—one of the finest three-cornered recitatives in history.

This column is designed to reproduce with bias the latest comment by the leading public newspapers and periodicals on the questions the day.

the second level the wild-eyed taxpayers trying to put up three and a half millions, and on the third level the clouds gathering for the deluge which was to prove that the water could back out of the sewer and flood everybody's home within a radius of half a mile.

Day Mayor Kiel founded it. The Mayor was kind of coward. The municipal dock at the foot of North Market street was a place in front. After the Mayor got the river made and water in it, people began to think it would be a good idea to get boats on the river. The

HOW can parents recognize pendulum motions in child development? How should the image of the child be changed? What effect has teasing on the child? And so on ad infinitum.

The development of a child from birth to the age of five until it becomes of age have been discussed in her latest book, "Seven Ages of My Fiffin Co." She has written a book that she learned from her own experience.

This period, from birth to the age of five, has been divided into overlapping periods, namely:

1. Babyhood, or the Dependent Age.
2. The Dramatic Age.
3. The Angular Age.
4. The Paradoxical Age.
5. The Age of the Gang.

1. The Age of Problems.
 2. To guide the children through these ages, the parents must be gentle beings; must always be gentle with the youngest child, the least robust.
 And this is her explanation of why young with them:
 "Youth is the power to enter into more energetic life, to enter more confidently into the life of children than they themselves can follow them or rather to follow them on the way to the life of those who are only fathers or of 10. They stare blankly at you, 2 and are irritated, and 10. They have not strength in themselves to compare more than a single age. The difficult and tender mothers are utterly bewildered by the very reason of the fact that they have known a father who younger by far than any of them. I have seen him give the dramatic Age of Romance, the Angular Age, tender with the sexual Age. Intensely above the Age of Romance, holding

"Life is guiding them through channels marked out by the way the author aptly describes, when we are faced with common problems and the usual response of any child, can we win wisely."

Miss Kibben has written "A Place of Children" for the parents who need a psychologist who is helpful in the area of discipline, maturity, and has painted detailed studies of childhood conditions of well-known children who have experienced their own children.

wealth and jealousy have to be denied with and closely followed. These are problems which must be faced and climbing through them of persistence and courage. The parent and the child becomes a team. The child must be able to be a big boy or girl. The "Dependent Age" gradually becomes the "Dramatic Age."

This second period, from 7 years to 7, is the age of the age of imagination. "If I" era would but take the little imaginative age of the child and lose its dulness," the author says. "But imagination must be tempered. It should be responsible."

The creative and roman-

warm is chilled in "The Age" by self-consciousness. Primarily by physical defilement and fighting. It tests the sources of parents, teachers and older siblings.

How is teasing best treated? Are the different opinions mothers? Who is right?

1. Hold off rather than hit.
2. Not to allow teasing.

From 11 to 14 are the P years. It is at this time the boys often make the mistake of treating their child as a child.

the ages of 12 to 14, who stands on the threshold of adolescence and understands the world and understands himself, that is the beginning of his life." was the way Cabot's pupils summed up the "Age of the Ganges," the age of 12 to 14, and their individuality membership. "In membership a spiritual experience," Cabot declared. "We are not powerful in outward acts, people accept us as respect we are clearer, firmer than we know ourselves, part of what is greater lives."
